My contestant is in the family Papilionidae

My contestant can be found on every continent except Antarctica.

The females of my contestant can lay eggs one at a time on the underside of leaves of their food plants.

My contestant has are over 550 species around the world

http://www.biokids.umich.edu/critters/Papilionidae/